has taken the unusual step of offering cost-price products in a bid to take the sting out of caring for pets in tight economic circumstances.

Senior Vet John Ambler said, "We know how hard it can be for people to find money for pet food when budgets are stretched, and sadly, this sometimes means that pet owners are forced to postpone other pet care treatments to save money.

"We should stress though, that it is crucial that dogs, cats and other pets have vaccinations and important routine treatments, so in an effort to help, we are offering major brand name pet foods at cost price - giving any customers a huge potential for saving money. In many cases, this could save families hundreds of pounds a year, so it's well worth taking up.

"The offer is available on a wide range of well-known pet foods which customers can order and collect from any of our surgeries - all of which are centrally located with good car parking.

"Our regular customers are automatically entitled to take advantage of the pet food offer, but you don't have to have your pet registered with us to join the scheme - in fact anyone interested in benefiting from the savings on offer should get in touch straight away.

"We can also offer preventative pet health checks and treat a very wide range of pets."

Details of the pet food offer are available from any Oakfield surgery or by telephoning 01827 713149.
